ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 22, 1892.

CHICAGO, JUNE 21, '92, The Place and Date of the Next Democratic Convention. WORK OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

A Dozen Cities Battle Earnestly for the Honor.

BUT THE "WINDY CITY" TAKES THE PRIZE

The News of the Capital Told in Brief Paragraphs-Honoring Former Speakers.

WASHINGTON, January 21,-Chicago is the place, and June 21st is the date, for the assembling of the democratic national convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice president.

The selection gives general satisfaction, and is regarded as the best available.

It has already developed that Minneapolis is unequal to entertaining the republican convention. Indeed, the national conventions are now becoming so ponderous that it is difficult to find accommodations for them anywhere.

It was this condition which had a controlling influence in the choice of Chicago. This city has the largest buildings, the best general railroad approach and the greatest number of hotels of any city in the union. The crowd which will attend the next convention will be enormous.

Called to Order.

The national committee met here at noon today, Chairman Brice presiding. Alabama was represented by Henry D. Clayton, Jr.; Florida, Samuel Pasco; Georgia, J. H. Estill Mississippi, C. A. Johnston: North Carolina Ransom; South Carolina, John C. Haskell; Tennessee, R. T. Looney; Virginia,

The committee at once went into secret session to settle the questions of proxies and contests. In secret session, Secretary Harrity, of the Pennsylvania state committee, presented his credentials as a national committeeman yesterday, having been selected by the state central committee of that state to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. L. Scott. Chairman Brice, of the nationa committee, had, at the time of Scott's death, appointed ex-Congressman James Kerr to fill vacancy from Pennsylvania, but the state central committee of Pennsylvania yesterday formally declared that Chairman Brice had no right, permanently, to fill such vacancy, and thereupon selected Secretary Harrity as Mr. Scott's successor, utterly ignor ing Kerr's claims. It was expected that this controversy might provoke an acrimonious dis-cussion in the secret session, but Mr. Kerr resigned, and Mr. Harrity was declared to be Mr. Scott's successor.

Tuesday, June 21st, was selected as the date for the national convention. A recess was then taken until 3:30 o'clock. Four o'clock was set as the time for opening the hearing of delegations upon the location of the convention, twenty minutes to be allowed each dele-

Speaker Crisp will, perhaps, preside over the house on Monday. He has been steadily improving each day, and was able to walk about the halls of the hotel a little today, The fact that he has concluded his work on the rules, and that they were reported to the house today, relieves his mind of a burden, and having no work to perform between not and Monday, he should gain strength rapthe house on Monday, Mr. McMillin and Mr. Catchings, of the committee on rules, will make speeches in explanation of them. Mills's Want of Courtesy.
Mr. Mills is being severely criticised today by his friends, as well as those who are not considered his friends, for his action in declining to serve as chairman of the committee or erce. The unanimous opinion is that he attempted to snub the speaker by not notifying af his declination. Courtesy requires that he should have notified the speaker, instead of the second man on the committee, Mr. Wise, of Virginia; but Mr. Mills seems to be deterned to disregard all courtesy in his dealings with the speaker.

A CRISIS IN CHILE. President Montt Is in Danger at Home and

WASHINGTON, January 21 .- [Special.]-It is learned tonight, upon the highest authority, that the reason for delay in sending to congress the Chilean correspondence is that the administration is advised that a cabinet crisis in Chile is imminent. Montt is in favor of a withdrawal of the Matta letter, through the publication throughout the world of an apology, this to be accompanied by full reparation to the United States. The Balmacedists, who are constantly plot-ting against Montt, have succeeded in stiring up such opposition to this course that Montt dare not act. He is confronted with two horns of a dilemma, and, according to the latest advices, he must choose between war with the United States and internal war, and is likely to select the former. Unless, therefore, there is a decided change in the situation, the message will be sent to congress on Monday.

Captain Evans Praised. LONDON, January 21 .- The Times publishe lispatches from Santiago De Chile, which states that Captain Evans, of the United States steamship, Yorktown, prudently ascer tained that the Chileau government declined to accept Minister Egan's pretention that a mercantile flag would protect the Chilean refu mercantile flag would protect the Chilean refu-gees, and he, therefore, carried them under a United States warship flag to Callao. The conduct of Captain Eyans, the dispatch adds, is highly appreciated in Santiago, and says that Minister Egan's hostile attitude is in complete contrast to Captain Eyans's policy. The rate of exchange has fallen a penny at Valparalso owing to the threatening declara-tions of Minister Egan.

JERRY JUMPS ON THE TARIFF.

And Says the Democrats Should Repeal the McKinley Bill.

Washington, January 21.—In the house a large number of bills and resolutions were in-troduced and referred. Among them one by silver and for the issue of coin notes. On motion of Mr. Outhwaite, a resoluti was adopted calling on the secretary of the treasury for a statement of drawbacks paid to importers of tin plate under the provisions of the McKinley bill. Also for a statement of duties refunded to importers of salt for curing fish and meat.

Jerry Simpson on the Tariff. In the discussion of this measure, Mr.

Simpson, of Kansas, had an opportunity to enter the arena of debate, and his brief remarks were listened to with great attention. He stood in front of one of the aisles. His attitude was easy and his delivery good. He started off with the declaration that the $15,-000 already appropriated had been squandered 000 already appropriated had been squandered, but he was strongly in favor of the pending measure, as it would allow settlers to secure homes. He hoped that the house, with its large democratic majority, would do what ought to have been done before. Touching upon the tariff, he asserted that the protective tariff policy, as pursued by the republican party, instead of bringing prosperity to the farmers, had brought disaster—[applause on the democratic side]—and they wanted to seek homes and begin life under a democratic administration, which, he hoped, wanted to seek homes and begin frie under a democratic administration, which, he hoped, would repeal the McKinley bill and all kindred tariff laws, and bring prosperity to the country. The bill passed.

Mr. Catchings, of Mississippi, from the committee on rules, reported a new code of rules, which was ordered printed in The Record.

Mr. Catchings stated that the code was substantially that which governed the fiftieth congress. There were three or four changes.
He would ask for the consideration of the report Monday. The house then took a recess for half an hour.

Accepting the Portraits.

After recess the portraits of ex-Speakers Grow and Randall, of Pennsylvania, were brought into the hall and placed upon easels provided for them. They were carefully scru-tinized by the members, and the remarks tinized by the members, and the remarks passed upon them were highly eulogistic. Mr. Grow was upon the floor looking hale and hearty, and, apparently, bearing youthfully the burden of years which have rested upon him since he presided over the deliberations of the house in the thirty-seventh congress. In the members' gallery were seated Mrs. Randall and her daughters. C. W. Stone, of Pennsylvania, made a brief and effective presentation speech on behalf of the state of entation speech on behalf of the state of Pennsylvania.

THE ALLIANCEMEN

Who Hold Seats in the House of Representatives.

THEIR POLITICAL STATUS QUOTED

But One Republican Allianceman in the House.

WHILE A GREAT MANY ARE DEMOCRATS.

And Nine Who Are Too Pronounced fo Any Party-Georgia's Contribution to the New Idea,

WASHINGTON, January 21 .- [Special.]-The alliance members of congress met last night in conference, and had a regular monkeyand-parrot time of it. Indeed, it looked at one time as if there was going to be a general fist-and-skull set-to between some of the democratic alliancemen and the third party alliancemen.

Mr. Watson had made a speech in the conference in which he had asked Mr. Mose if he thought that he (Watson) had vio lated the platform upon which he was elected, and his pledges to his people, by refusing to act with the democratic party

Mr. Moses replied that he would answer him in the language of the late Senato Hill, of Georgia, that "no man had a right to accept a commission from one party an execute it in the interest of another."

The discussion went along for a momen or two, when Colonel Tom Winn took the floor and said to Mr. Watson: "I want you to explain to me why you over your own signature, in your letter to the third party papers in Georgia, charged myself and others with being traitors to the people and the alliance." Mr. Watson replied that he had not use such an expression. Mr. Winn then stated that while he had not used the exact word, he had used a similar expression that could but convey that idea.

Mr. Watson then said that it was well enough to let past matters drop, and that he would be on friendly terms with every Mr. Winn replied that he was perfectly willing to accept Mr. Watson's apology, provided Mr. Watson would make it in the same papers to which he had written his original charges. This Mr. Watson refused to do, when Mr. Winn took the floor and shook his finger vigorously toward Mr. Watson and "I am offended with you, sir, and I want you to understand that it will be better for you to attend to your own district, and not try to represent the ninth. If you ever write another thing reflecting upon me I will hold you personally responsible, and will demand personal satisfaction." Colonel Livingston [and several others interrupted by stating that the gentlemen were getting off from subject under discussion, and sisted that the conference should discuss the matters for which it had been called, namely, financial legislation. Mr. Alexander of North introduced a resolution that in future meetings of the alliance members of congress, there should be no partisan politics in the discussions.

Mr. Watson said Mr. Livingston was responsible for interjecting [politics into the meeting, to which Colonel Livingston replied emphatically that his statement was not true, and went on to state that when the matter was first introduced by Mr. Watson and Mr. Simpson, they had charged that the third party was the only party that really favored financial relief to the people and that it was the letters from third party people behind the congressmen that were inclining them to do anything at all.

Colonel Livingston went on to state that he believed that the democratic members of the house were unanimously of the opinion that financial relief was needed, and that a measure of relief would be passed through this congress by the democratic majority.

Mr. Watson then moved that the alliance conference should cease, as it was evident that the third party and the democratic alliancemen not agree without lugging in their partisar opinions. Mr. Watson's motion, however, received but three votes, that of him self, Jerry Simpson and Otis of Kansas. The other alliancemen present agreed that future conferences should be held, and so voted.

It seems that the third party element in congress consists of but three members now: Mr. Watson, of Georgia; Jerry Simpson and Mr. Otis, of Kansas.

The Alliancemen Sketched. There are thirty-one members of the Farners' Alliance in the present congress.

Of this number four are senators and the thers are representatives. The four senators are: Peffer, of Kansas, who is a republican alli-

Kyle, of South Dakota, who calls himsel an "indocrat," but who is inclined towards democracy, his election being due to democratic support. He is, however, one of those sort who drops in with the party which it is best for him to be with for the time being. He cannot be counted upon by either side.

The third senator is General Gordon, of Georgia, who is a member of the alliance, bu whose democracy is as sound as ever.

The fourth is Irby, of South Carolina, an allianceman, but above all things a democra Of the twenty-seven alliancemen in the use there is but one straightout republican. Of the remainder eighteen are democrats to of the remainder eight cent are democrate the core and eight are people's party representatives. Indeed, there are nine people's party representatives in the house, including Watson, of Georgia, who is not an alliance

Tom Reed's Description of Pickler. The lone republican allianceman in the nouse is Pickler, of South Dakota, whom Tom Reed described the other day in this manner. Said he: "Until I met Pickler I never under-stood the meaning of that reference in the Bible to a wild ass's colt." The people's party alliancemen come from but three states—Kansas, Nebraska and Minnesota.

From Kansas there are five. Sockless Jerry Simpson might be termed the leader of this crowd, certainly he is the most conspicuous, but the other four are becoming rather avers to following his delirious leadership, and at any moment may be found squarely in the republican party. The others are:

The People's Party Men.
B. H. Clover, the man who defeated Bishop Perkins, recently appointed senator to succeed Plumb. Clover, in his own account of his life, says he is fifty-four years of age, was born in Franklin county, Ohio, "received a common school education in the schools of his native state and the school of experience, was married on all-fool's day in 1859, and has seven children; is a farmer." He then goes on to say he never held public office, but has been twice chosen John Grant Otis ranks third on the list of Kansas third party alliancemen. Otis is a professional dairyman, but was at one time second-class lawyer up in Vermont, where he of every party, even including the old green-back party. He has the reputation of being a born kicker and reformer He takes pride in the fact that he took an "active part in recruiting the first negro regiment of Kansas in 1862."

"Honest" John Davis is another Kansas

third party alliance congressman. He is regarded as the scholar of the outfit. He was a former greenbacker and for years editor of small paper out at Junction City.

He has some very pronounced views on the money question, which he may be relied upon to thoroughly ventilate in the house. Of all the third party men in the house he would be first picked out for what he is-a rustic agitator of economic reforms. He is a thick-set man of about fifty-eight, with gray whiskers and hair, which were formerly black. Of the garded as the best authority on alliance finanpiering. He has a reputation also as a talker and a writer. In the directory he says of himself that he "became widely known as an able and fearless writer." In the old times he was an anti-slavery agitator, and has been or is associated with about all the greenback, Knight of Labor and agricultural, industrial and conomic movements that have, by affinity, come his way.

W. H. Baker is the last from Kansas. He was born in Pennsylvania and has been a farmer and stockraiser all his life. He is not expected to be heard from in the house except on roll calls, and then he will vote with his Kansas colleagues.

The Minnesota third party allianceman is Kittel Halverson, a Norwegian, who immigrated to the United States in 1848. He is a farmer and stockraiser, an allianceman and a prohibi-tionist. He will vote with all alliancemen of all parties for more money, lower taxation and the free coinage of silver.

From Nebraska, there is W. A. McKeighan

and Omer M. Kern. The former was elected as an independent. He refused to go into any caucus and voted with the third party men in the speakership contest. But he is sorry for it now. He has seen the error of his way, and in the future the chances are his rote will be found in the democratic column. He is an ardent advocate of the free coinage of

Mr. Kern is an extremist on financial ques tions. He is a sort of a farmer, and was once deputy sheriff of his county out in Nebraska He talks of nothing but finance, and he seems convinced that he could make a world of his own had he the raw material, and that he could reform the financial system of the world could be get the public ear. Mr. Kern will probably be heard from on many occasions before this congress adjourns.

The Alliance Democrats Now we come to the eighteen members of the alliance order who are democrats. Every one of them is a democrat the very bone, too. It matters not how much third party talk there be these men are democrats, and they are going to make their fight for the reforms they want within the ranks of the democratic party. To begin with there are Messrs. Livingston Moses, Lawson, Everett and Winn from Georgia. They are known to every reader of THE CONSTITUTION as a quintet of as gallant battlers for the cause of democracy and for financial relief to the agricultural classes as can be found in America. And the voices of all five will be heard to the credit of the state

His colleague, Mr, Beeman, is a strong man but one who is just beginning his first term having been elected as a democratic alliance

lina democrats, who are likewise allianceme and a very strong quartet they make.

Handsome Sid Alexander is perhaps the eader of the quartet. The others are W. A. B. Branch, of Washington; Ben F. Grady, of Wallace, and H. A. Williams, of Oxford. All four are ex-confederate diers, and straightout democrats favor of tariff reform, free coinage, and an increase of the circulating medium of the coun-

From South Carolina there is G. W. Shell and E. T. Stackhouse, both new men, but strong and earnest advocates of all the principles of democracy. Both are farmers, and are here so see that the farmers of the country have justice at the hands of the federal government. Still they are not extremists in any sense of the word. The boy seemed to grow by jumps, and when twenty-three years old was as tall as at the time of his death. He was broad, too, and with his arms outstretched he is said to have vertically measured nine feet from the tips of the tingers of his right hand to those of his left. Nelson has been exhibited at the museums. His remains will be taken to Essex county, Virginia, for burlal. Ironton last week, arising from an explosion of powder in the Clifton Iron Company's store, we have learned from Mr. Tom Cobb King, superintendent of the company, that the building and contents were insured, and the company will sustain no very serious loss.

He made for the company an excellent record in producing iron, last week, with one furnace, having a thirteen-foot bosh. There was made 500 tons of pig iron, and but seventy-nine bushels of charcoal per ton of iron were used in its production, or for each ton of iron turned out fifteen pounds of fuel were consumed. This is an exceptional showing for a pine charcoal furnace, and the record is one seldom equaled.

Our little town is doing well, and the hard times generally prevailing have put in an appearance here but to a limited extent.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., January 21.—[Special.]—Quite a little flutter of excitement was caused here tonight by the announcement that the Chattanooga Southern railroad had been put into the hands of a receiver, and Newman Erb named as receiver. Contractors sued the road for money due for building, and the receiver was today appointed. C. E. James, against whom the East Tennessee recently instituted preceedings, is president.

Huntsville's Bank Directors. Huntsville, Ala., January 21.—(Special.)—The Merchants' and Farmers' bank, with a capital of $100,000, was organized here with W. F. Wellman president, and E. H. Andrews cashier. Mr. Andrews recentlylmoved here from Pierre, S. D. The directors are: Milton Humes, C. S. Nolan, Charles H. Haisey, D. D. Shelley, Henry McGee, W. T. Wellman, W. S. Wells and O. R. Hundley.

Anarchists in Court. London, January 21.—The anarchists who were arrested at Waisall on January 7th and others who have since been taken into custody were again in the Walsall police court today, and the case continued until Friday. One of the prisoners is named Slaughter. The police claim to have evidence that he was concerned in the Chicago Haymarket massacre, and that he was the prime mover in the present conspiracy.

Their Work Completed. MEW YORK, January 21.—The general assembly of the committee on revision of the confession of faith today completed its work. Chapter II, treating of the universal offer of the gospel, which has been a bone of contention during the latter days of the committee's session, was adopted today in a condensed form. All that now remains is to submit the report to the general assembly.

The River is Falling.

Augusta, Ga., January 21.—(Special.)—The river was on a standstill from 9 o'clock last night until 4 o'clock this morning, at thirty-two feet ten inches. Since that hour it has been rapidly falling. Since the high water has gone down it has been discovered that one of the piers of the North Augusta bridge has settled down two inches is the river. Why They Were Transferred.

The Colored Question Breaks Out in Full Force in Augusta

OVER THE ELECTION OF A PHYSICIAN.

The Medical College of Georgia Declines to Recognize a Colored Doctor and Will Not Act with Him.

AUGUSTA, Ga., January 21 .- [Special.]-Dissatisfaction over the election of Rev. D. W. Culp, the negro, over Dr. O. G. Gercke, as superintendent of the colored hospital, has not died out vet.

Resolutions were passed by the students of the Medical College of Georgia last week protesting against his being qualified to the office, also declaring not to attend clinics at the colored hospital if Culp was put in office, and is followed by another sensation today.

The Faculty Acts. The faculty of the college met this afternoon, and Edward Geddings, dean, was instructed to petition the city council to release the college from charge of the colored hospital. Dr. Geddings says neither the faculty or the students will visit the hospital in future. The Mayor Doesn't Care.

Your correspondent saw Mayor Alexander tonight and gave him the first information of the action of the faculty. He said the city was not dependent upon the college, and could elect another city physician and station him at the hospital to attend to the indigent colored poor. Without speaking for the council, he said he was willing to release the college from charge of the hospital.

What Dr. Geddings Says. Dr. Geddings says the college will be jured by the students being prevented from attending the colored hospital. It looks like the trouble over the negro's election will

GEORGIA'S BUILDING At the World's Fair-flow It Should Be Built. Macon, Ga., January 21.—[Special.]—Mr. M. E. Dorsett, of Macon, advances a very good idea as to the shape of the building to be erected at the world's fair for Georgia's display. He suggests that the architect who has the plans in charge should make the building in the exact geographical shape of the state of Georgia. In the building should be a bunk, or division, for each county in which to put its Georgia. In the building shound be a bunk, or division, for each county in which to put its display. Then a large map, drawn under the supervision of the state geologist, should be attached to the building, showing by proper lines the various mineral belts of the state, and lines the various mineral belts of the state, and the other sections of Georgia, like the cotton, melon, lumber, etc.

Bibb county's board of directors will start actively to work this week to raise Bibb's assessment of $4,237 for the world's fair fund of $100,000. The first move will be to get 100 men to subscribe $25 each, and the balance to be raised by smaller subscriptions.

From Congressman Livingston. Secretary W. W. Collins, of the executive committee, has received the following interesting letter from Congressman Livingston:
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, January 18, 1892.—W. W. Collins, Secretary and Treasurer, Macon, Ga. Dear Sir: Yours of the 28th ultimo, addressed to me at Covington, is forwarded to me from that place. I concur with you in the importance of the enterprise in which you are enlisted. I concur also with you that the farmers should assist in this important matter, to-wit, raising the necessary funds.

I will communicate with my finance committee for the state of Georgia, and secure the adoption of a plan by which this matter can be brought properly to their notice, and insist on a liberal contribution from our people. Thus will be attended to as soon as possible. Yours truly, Secretary W. W. Collins, of the executive for Board.

Macon, Ga., January 21.—[Special.]—A few days ago a well dressed and smooth talking man registered at the Brown house as R. Sims. He led a few people to believe that he had considerable money. On leaving the Brown house he presented a check for considerably over the amount of his board, and said he would call for the overplus when the clerk got the check cashed. But the check proved to be no good and Sims is gone. It is said that Sims has been operating quite extensively and has caught several parties. He did the same thing in Savannah, where he went from here. Toin Savannah, where he went from here. ATLANTA TO MARIETTA.

The Building of an Electric Line Under MARIETTA, Ga., January 21.—[Special.]— The electric line from Atlanta to Marietta is still the talk of the town. A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held here tonight, and Colonel C. J. Sim-mons, president of the Atlanta and Chatta-hoochee Railroad Company, and Mr. W. S. Atchinson, representing the Short Electric Railway Company, were present.

Colonel Simmons stated that all the equipments for the road had been purchased, and that he would have it running to the river by March 18th. He estima cost of building the roadbed from the river to Marietta at $100,000, and wants the people along the line and at Marietta to donate enough money to pay for the roadbed. He roposes to have about fifteen stations along the line between Marietta and Atlanta, and to have two power plants, one located five miles from Atlanta, the other in Marietta. The schedules will be to run cars as often as the traffic will justify, and it may be that trains will be run each way every hour during the day, from 6 o'clock in the morning till 12 o'clock at night, and certainly as many as six trains each way daily will be run. From 12 o'clock at night till 6 o'clock in the morning the main bulk of the freight will be carried. The fare will not exceed thirty-five cents each way, and on monthly tickets about seven dollars for adults and a less price for school children.

It developed that another railway company chartered by the legislature, named the Collins Park and Belt Railroad Company, was moving in the matter of running a road from Marietta to Bolton, and there to connect with the Atlanta and Chattahoochee railroad. This road expressed itself as being willing to retire in favor of the Atlanta and Chattahoochee railway. The question standing in the way of the road being built is, Will the people donate enough to authorize the company to go ahead and complete it?" It was generally expressed by the people that $100,000 could not be raised as a do but, to meet that, Colonel Simmons is going to make a proposition to the citizens in writing, in a few days, in which he will state the best terms under which he can afford to build the road. These terms will, doubtless, be much more liberal than the donation of $100,000

Of The Charlotte Chronicle.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., January 21.—[Special.]
It is now a settled fact that The Charlotte Chronicle, which has, for the past year, been under the editorial charge of Messrs. D. F. St. Clair and W. C. Dowd, will change hands on the 1st of February. Mr. Joseph Callwell, a gentleman of considerable newspaper talent, will assume control then. This change in the management of The Chronicle will, no doubt, to a great extent sudden the lack of harmony. to a great extent subdue the lack of harmony and otherwise bad blood that has of late been made manifest here by the stand this paper has aken against the whisky element. The retir raken against the whisty element. The refring editor, Mr. St. Clair, is a man of considerable ability, and but for his views on the whisky question, and others of more or less moment, his work in Charlotte would have proved acceptable to the majority of stockholders of this paper. Mr. St. Clair goes to New York to enter a broader field of usefulness.

A $3,000 Verdict.

The suit of Mrs. J. T. Harbuck vs. the East Tennessee road ended yesterday, and a verdict was given for the plaintiff in the sum of $3,000.

The suit is brought for the killing of Mrs. Harbuck's husband, which occurred early last year. He was a sectionnaster on that road, and was working out near the city limits, where the East Tennessee runs paralel with the Western and Atlantic road. Hearing the noise of an approaching train he thought it was on the other road and continued standing, and west tilled. and was killed. Another Verdict.

Another Verdict.

In the case of Edwards against the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad before Judge Van Epps, a verdict for $5,500 damages was rendered in favor of the plaintiff. The suit of John Woodruff, who claims damages to the amount of $10,000 against the Atlanta and Florida, was placed on trial in the city court yesterday. Woodruff was a mail agent on the Atlanta and Florida, and was badly hurt near Woolseyville, on February 3d last. He is represented by Messrs. Glenn & Slaton.

from The New York World, Dem.
The danger of war arises from barbarous self-ishness in three forms. There are forces in the administration that desire war as a means of reviving the republican party's prestige and popularity, and securing for it a new lease of power at larity, and securing for it a new lease of power at a time when the people are manifestly intent upon dismissing it for unfaithfulness. In brief, jingoism is a partisan device for election purposes. In the navy there is a desire to try the new ships and to win "numbers" in the promo-tion list—in other words, a professional desire to, get on, which finds expression in a wish for war. Finally the hungry crowd of speculative con-tractors want war to make business for them-

These are the forces that make for war. Opposed to them are the humanity of the people, the good sense of the community and the indisposition of sensible men for the house of representatives to give voice to these silent but powerful sentiments. On the economic side especially the house should object with decisive emphasis. A war with Chile ould cost us not less than a hundred million and all the glory to be got out of it is not half the money. This congress was elected to cut down expenses, not to swell them by needless war, and a war with Chile is utterly nee can take perfectly good care of the national honor and dignity without it, and there is no pretense that there is anything else to be taken care of in

From The New York Evening Post.

It will be well, however, for the democrats, who control one branch of congress, and without whose concurrence there can be no war, to reflect seriously upon the consequences of failing into a Chilean trap. They cannot be unmindfulthat a foreign war of any dimensions beyond Custer's campaign against Sitting Bull would swamp all other issues. It would "put out" the tariff quesion, the currency question, and the treasury def icit question for the time being as completely a though they did not exist. It would in like man though they did not exist. It would in like man-ner cover up all investigations that may be un-desire to investigate. It would make a states-man of Pat Egan. It would render necessary large expenditures of money, an increase of the nal debt, extensive contracts for all sorts of supplies and transportation, with the usual amount of picking and stealing which would be in the interest of the party in control of the executive branch of the government, and a new pension list. Moreover, if there were any glory in such a war, it would be reaped by the same party. That there could be any real glory in a war by 60,000,000 people against 3,000,000 (except to the weaker side) is not to be supposed; but there are a great many ill-informed persons who think that any kind of a war must be supported, and that the way to support it is to vote for the party that brings it on and carries it on. That party will not be the democratic party in the present instance. The democratic party in the present instance, the shame, but none of the feathers, the banners, the druks and the torch-lights. supplies and transportation, with

HOW MANY WIVES?

A Traveling Man from Louisville Talks of Nelson.

AND ADDS ANOTHER WIFE TO THE STRING

A Story That Shows Up a Man Who Seem to Be a Firm Believer in the Doc-trines of Mormonism.

Interest in the Nelson bigamist case has revived again.

It is due to the startling report that the architect has a third wife in Jacksonville.

And that Nelson himself is eluding the offi ers in the far-away north.

It has been several weeks since he left Atlanta, and it was but a few days afterwards that it was ascertained that Nelson had two One of them lives on Mitchell street, and it

"Who's that?" was asked, "the man with two wives?"

'Yes. And in my opinion," continued the gentleman, "he's got three. I have just come from Jacksonville where the architect has often risited, and I think that he has another wife somewhere in Florida. I couldn't find anything definite."

somewhere in Florida. I content find anything definite."

Interest began to spring up in the affair which created such a stir recently.

"I just dropped in," said the man, "to find out about Nelson. My name's Greenaway; I'm a traveling man from Louisville and am on my way there now. In my opinion that man never will come back; it would be made entirely too warm for him."

"What makes you think Nelson has another wife in Florida?" was asked.

"I know," said the drummer, "that a man named T. C. Nelson registered at one of the Jacksonville hotels some time ago—it wasn't six months. I go there frequently on my route and remember meeting the man. He was young and seemed very intelligent. I don't know if that meager description fits or not. But this same man deserted his wife at the hotel."

POLITICS AT LARGE. Governor Hill's "Jacksonian Courage."

From The Lynchburg, Va., News, Dem. It is an easy matter to stand between a double row of frill shirt-fronts and preach to the demo-eratic party about Jacksonian courage, but it is better example for a man to stand at the head of the line where the battle is fastest and most forious. David B. Hill is not a dress-parade democrat. His panoply is not a swallow-tailed coat with boutonniere. He is a Jacksonian coat with boutonniere. He is a Jacksonian democrat, indeed, who fights for his party in season and out of season with a persistency that is constant and a courage that has never been matched. When the force bill was threat and they were silent whose folly made the crime possible, Hill aroused the country like a fire-bell at night by his ringing denunciations. When the fight raged hottest, in the fall of 1890, he was everywhere in the enemy's front, while not a whisper was heard from the lips that are swiftest now to dictate the plan of battle for 1892. In the spring of last year, when the cladel of democracy was assailed in New York, and other distinguished was assailed in New York, and other distinguished men were conspicuous in the fight by being on the wrong side of it, Hill was still on deck; and he has but just triumphantly emerged from one of the fiercest and most memorable struggles ever witnessed in this country, in which his devotion and courage achieved for him and his party the most brilliant victory that has been won over the republican forces in the history of the Empire State politics. When these events were taking place was the time to display "Jacksonian courage," because they were events that tried men's souls and tested their unselfish loyalty to the democratic party and if delity to the principles that animate the party.

Interesting as Well as Valuable Information.

It is the duty of the press to expose frauds and impositions of every kind in order to protect the people. It is a fact which should be said regretfully that, owing to the constant calls for cheap commodities in this great American courty of ours, adulterations have been introduced into everything from food to paints. In paints white lead so off by being adulterated with barytes which costs about one-sixth as much as whate lead and is good for nothing. Ready mixed paints are also adulterated to as great an extent as white lead. White lead adulterations are concealed in its pigment, while mixed paints holds its adulterations in the liquid. Henzine and water are mostly used. It is almost impossible to detect the presence of these worthless adulterations in mixed paints. The public can only avoid them by buying of reputable houses, who buy only of reputable and experienced manufacturers. When people buy cheap mixed paints they pay for water and henzine, which evaporates as soon as applied to the wood—takes the life out of the pigment and makes people paint their houses over every year. Such paints are very expensive, for it costs as much to apply cheap paints as the best. There are two makes of mixed paints as the best. There are two makes of mixed paints as the best. There are two makes of mixed paints as the pair and lasting qualities, viz: Masury's and Wadsworth Silica. Masury has been a manufacturer of paints for fifty years, and within that time by experimental tests, succeeded in producing his celebrated Mixed Paints, which are so durable, both in substance and color, and are so economical, because a greater surface can be covered with them, at a greater surface can be covered with them, at a Interesting as Well as Valuable Information Mixed Paints, which are so durable, both in substance and color, and are so economical, because a greater surface can be covered with them, at a given cost, than with pure white lead.

Wadsworth mixed paints contain silica, which give a hard surface to both wood and metal; which is extremely durable, as it resists the action of acids and the elements better than any other mixed paint. The Southern Paint and Glass Company, of 39 South Broad street, are sole agents in Atlanta for these two excellent and entirely reliable brands of mixed paints. They sell reliable goods and are battling against the cheap, worthless paints, which are being sold in Atlanta.

Irwin, C. W. Lee, W. J. Hartman, F. H. Clark, G. D. Hams.

Three subjects were set for discussion, and there was a long and interesting debate. The first topic was "The most suitable type and mode of hanging inside brakes on car trucks." It developed in the discussion that the practical men favored hanging brakes from a rigid point. The other questions discussed were "the best practice of setting flues and proper treatment to prevent leaking," and "the best sizes and shapes and modes of fastening draft timbers." After the debate on these questions two committees were appointed to report on the points raised. Messrs. Gentry, W. H. Thomas and James Meehan were appointed on the committee to report on the last question and Messrs. C. F. Thomas, William Hessman and Hooker will report on the flues.

The next meeting will be held at the Kimball Thursday, April 21st. The questions to

THE EAST TENNESSEE'S NEXT.

Signs Point to Its Scooping the Norfolk and Western Some Day.

The lease of the Lynchburg and Durham by the Norfolk and Western adds 114 miles to the latter's system, which has a mileage of 1,437. The Norfolk and Western is after the Western Maryland, which has ninety-three miles of track.

Certain indications point to the eventual leasing of the Norfolk and Western by the East Tennessee. That will put the East Tennessee from Bristol to Baltimore, and, with the Cheese and Creece and Creec Queen and Crescent system, will put 4,800 miles of road under President Felton.

General Thomas and Mr. Brice will then have, with the Richmond and Danville, three or four separate systems which, if consolidated into one, will control transportation in the south. And there are those who believe this will come to pass—if Jay Gould lives.

THE CULLOM BILL.

The Sentiment at the Railway Club Meet ing Yesterday Was Opposed to It.

The railroad men who were at the Southern Railroad Club meeting yesterday ridiculed the Cullom coupler bill.

Some of the members intended to introduce some of the members intended to introduce a resolution disapproving of the bill but in the rush it was overlooked.

"The Cullom bill would bankrupt all the railroads in the country," said one of the members. "Senator Cullom drew his bill too hastily.

The master car builders are on the right line, and are compelling the manufacturers of couplers to make them on a certain uniform pattern, which will reduce the danger."

A resolution aimed against the Cullom bill will probably be offered at the next meeting of the club.

The Belt Road Election.

The Belt Road Election.

CHATTANOGA, Tenn., January 21.—[Special.]—The annual stockholders' meeting of the Belt road took place today, and figure-head officers were put in to run the road during the coming year. The election of officers showed the fine Italian hand of Wall street and are a dead give-away. H. S. Chamberlain and D. S. Anderson, each owning one share of stock, were elected president and vice president respectively. C. E. James today filed his answer to General Thomas and Mr. Felton's bill to put the Belt road in the hands of a receiver. The answer is quite spicy, and he not only denies all of their allegations, but charges them with trying to work a slick scheme on them.

will be presented by Daniel Frohman's company at DeGive's and theatergoers can count upon an exquisite treat.

During its three season's run "The Charity Ball' has been decidedly "a play for all the people." It pleases the gallery, orchestra and boxes alike, because it is a plain, simple story of every day people, appealing to all hearts, winning generous applause from all bands. Its performances are always made the more effective by the fact that special seenery is carried for it—one set being a representation of a hall of the Metropolitan opera house, New York.

Daniel Frohman's name is widely known as a purvevor of all that is highest and best in dramatic entertainment. For his years he has probably achieved a greater degree of success in theatrical management than any other man now before the public in that capacity. His care in the selection of his plays, his ability, tact and skill in their production, both as regards companies and stage effects, perhaps, even his loyalty to the works of the American dramatists, have been chiefly instrumental in bringing him this success. Of all the plays, too, that have borne the stamp of his name and that of the Lyceum theater, once has been so prominent, none so prominent, and stage affects, perhaps, even his loyalty ball," an American actors.

Sarah Bernhardt. Everybody desires to see, once in a life time at least, the actor or actress who stands undeniably at the head of his or her profession. Therefore, everybody wants to see Sarah Bernhardt. There may be a difference of opinion as to who is the world's createst acts, but averybody into realm may be a difference of opinion as to who is the world's greatest actor, but everybody in the realm of art knows, and all agree that Madame Bernhardt is without a peer. Bernhardt is not only celebrated as an artiste—she is also a personality of strong individuality, and, we must admit, of peculiar originality. She is not only an actress—she is an author, a poet, a painter and a sculptor. In everything she does she has given proof of remarkable naturat talent. Even her eccentricities have made her notorious. Such women are few in a century, and it is certainly worth $3, for those who can afford it, to see this one of them in a grand production like "La Tosca."

Atlanta, Ga.

To the surging world this means as if a pebble was dropped into the sea, and then a few ripples, and all is over; but to the sorrowing husband, son and daughters this was to them as if some great sun had set—as if the great firmament itself had been cast into utter gloom. But there is hope of a tree if it be cut down that the tender roots thereof will sprout again, and we hope she only slept to arise to a better day.

For many years she has been the light and life of her family circle, rendering every trouble but transient and every wound as but of an hour. To her husband and sorrowing family we tender that consolation which, like some balm of Gliead, it is hoped, will take away this great sear, which, it seems, time will never heal. There is a swee recompense in the belief that she still lives and that some sweet summer day we shall meet again.

Adorned with many graces, she was charitable some sweet summer day we shall meet again.

Adorned with many graces, she was charitable and good, always casting about her the light of her cheery presence. Who can doubt, with her gone, that this family is without light and cheer. But there is a God who heals all scars and wipes away every tear. To His tender mercies we can only leave the sorrowing husband and children, while we rest in the belief that she will be cared for by that Providence which notes even a sparrow's fall. Truly, He makes no mistakes! Truly, she is under His tender care; and, truly, it may be said of her: tender care; and, truly, it may be said of her:

Dalton Prohibitionists Are in for Another Fight on the Whisky Question. Fight on the Whisky Question.

Dalton, Ga., January 21.—[Special.]—Dalton and the 872d district, Georgia militia, is on the eve of another election on the whisky question. Under an act of the legislature, elections on this question can be held only every two years. That period having expired since the last election, the anti-prohibitionists have girded up their loins and armed themselves for another fray. The necessary petition, signed by the requisite number of qualified voters of the district, has been presented to the ordinary, and an election will be ordered held on or about the 23d of February next.

The election will be confined exclusively to Dalton and the Dalton district, as the "three-mile law." passed by the last general assembly, virtually settles the question so far as the county at large is concerned. It is said that the anti-prohibitionists will make a very determined and bitter fight. They regard a district election, with the county out of the way, as in their favor.

Company.

UNDER INSTRUCTIONS OF THE STOCK-holders of the Brostus Motor Sewing Machine Company, all its property, patents and rights of every kind will be sold at public outery unless disposed of in the meantime at private sac, at the lac tory on Thursday, February 4, 1892, at 11 o'clock a. in., to the highest bidder for cash, subject to the existing mortgages for $47,000 and interest, and notes amounting to $10,651.81. The plant consists of nearly three acres fronting about 625 feet on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, with side tracks, and bounded by Wells, Ocmulgee and Glenn streets, a splendid four-story brick factory, engine room, foundry and blacksmith shop, equipped with machinery, tools, nickel-plating and japanning outfits, material, factures, etc., necessary for manufacturing sewing machines. Also all the patents and rights of said company relating to its business. Said mortgages cover the site, building, machinery, tools, fixtures and material, and were executed to secure $40,000 of 8 per cent semi-annual bonds, maturing five years from October 1, 1891, and notes of $5,000 and $2,000, due respectively April 10th and March 22d, 1892. Ten thousand dollars of said bonds held as co-lateral will be canceled when said notes for $10,651.81 are paid, which will leave the property mortgaged for $37,000 and interest. The purchaser will be required to deposit with the secretary $1,000 to be forfeited if he fails to comply with his bid. Negotiations for private sale will be entertained until February 3, 1892.

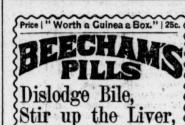

By order of board of directors.

A Few Timely Words.

An article in the current issue of The Southern Alliance Farmer, from the pen of that enthusiastic allianceman and well-known Georgian, Colonel W. R. Gorman, deserves and will doubtless receive the prompt attention of the democratic pressa

Colonel Gorman holds that the alliance is in imminent danger of dying if it follows the example of Congressman Livingston, and makes its fight for reform under the banner of the democracy. Speaking of Mr. Livingston's opposition to the third party, Colonel Gorman says:

He is morbid on this-in fact, has a night mare, when he thinks about the third party. He fights them with as much judgment as Don Quixote Hought the windmills on the plains of Salamanca. The valorous old knight imagined he saw an enemy in every windmill, and Livingston sees as enemy in every third party man, and like the ancient knight, he will be very much in need of repairs when he gets through with the fight But of all men he is the last that should fight the third party. He is (with all due respect to my third party friends) the daddy of that party orgia. Under his tutelage it has sprung up, and is making headway. The issue is now upon us, clear cut and well defined, and involves the

There is a very wide difference between leading and working for the alliance, and being the daddy of the third party.

Mr. Livingston has thrown himself heart and soul into the alliance move ment, but like thousands of other members of the order he feels that it can only secure the triumph of its principles and the attainment of its objects through the democratic party-the only party which is thoroughly in sympathy with the masses, and in a position to win a victory that will make reform possible.

Colonel Gorman expresses the fear that loyalty to the democracy will cause the death of the alliance.

Mr. Livingston takes a practical, farseeing view of the situation. He sees a chance to win an alliance victory by remaining in the democratic ranks, and no chance at all outside. As a democrat he can see no earthly reason why he and other democrats should abandon the old party on the eve of victory, and rush into a third party only to bring about the defeat of both. The fatal folly of such a course when the democratic party is pushing steadily forward on the alliance line of reform must be obvious to every thoughtful democratic allianceman.

Here in Georgia, where the alliancemen constitute 75 per cent of the democratic party-here in the south where they overwhelmingly control the party, what good reason can democratic alliancemen give for organizing a third party? The alliancemen of the south, with their brethren in the west, are gladly welcomed in the councils of the democracy, and their leadership is loyally followed. They have it in their power to push the national democracy, and thereby themselves, forward to sweeping victory that will settle the twin issues of tariff and financial reform in their favor for at least a generation to come.

This is the assured prospect ahead of democratic alliancemen, but a third party blasts it, and leaves nothing in view but the defeat of the alliance and the democracy, and the perpetuation in power of a republican plutocracy with its robber tariff and robber-like financial

We have given Colonel Gorman's article our attention because it is useless to disguise the fact that there is a third party undercurrent in our politics. We have frankly expressed our view of the situation because we believe that the democratic alliancemen of Georgia and of the south, when they see the issues clearly presented, will stand by the party of Jefferson and of their fathers with their old-time loyalty. There have been no better democrats than these sturdy farmers, and there are none better now. When they consider the third party business thoughtfully, they will see that they are already masters of the situation and that if they leave the ranks of the democracy they will throw away the fruits of victory now almost within their grasp. Livingston would lead the alliance into the fight to win everything that it is struggling for, while the third party's mistaken policy would bring only ruin

The third party in the south is a delusion and a snare. It is encouraged and promoted by republicans, whose only object is to disrupt the democracy and rivet plutocratic shackles upon the masses. Only republicans could have originated such a scheme, for democrats in their senses would never advise the majority of their party to run away from the minority to start a third party, when they could have it all their own way in the old organization, with the certainty of winning the fight.

These points will bear thinking over. They cannot be answered.

This Is Progress.

Before the end of the year the limpid waters of the Chattahoochee will be leaping into Atlanta!

Yesterday the water board, finished letting the contracts for the various classes of work and material needed in the construction of the new waterworks, including the excavation of the reservoir and the grading of the railway from the Western and Atlantic to the pumping stations.

Big work and big money are involved in these contracts, but the money is ready, and the work will give Atlanta an abundant supply of pure water.

.It is the best thing that has been done for the city since it rose from the ashes left by Sherman's torch. As a factor of health, industry, business and general development the new waterworks will be worth more than anything else that could be named.

This is genuine progress. With the new water supply Atlanta will be prettier, healthier and busier than ever. Tapping the Chattahoochee is better than opening a gold mine.

Get your mouths ready for a new brand of water-the Chattahoochee cock-

The Result in New York State.

One of the most important results of Governor Hill's remarkable work in New York state will be the new enumeration and apportionment law which the democrats will shortly put in operation. It is not at all strange that the republicans should follow their conqueror with slander and abuse, but it is strange that democratic newspapers in the south should give these republican complaints their endorsement, seeing that Governor Hill's work will stand for democratic success in the great pivotal state for at least a generation. That the republicans, cornered, cowed and whipped at every point, should take refuge in abuse, but nobody has ever been able to explain on reasonable grounds why democrats should adopt the re publican howl, and add to it some variations of their own invention. As usual, these democrats are mistaken; they have misinterpreted the public estimate of Governor Hill's wonderful victory—a victory whose fruits will be reaped by the democratic party for

The republican division of senate districts in New York state is based on the old census of 1875. The result of it has been so comfortable that the republicans have persistently refused to make any change. They have refused even to provide for a new census, though the constitution demands a state census every ten years. Since the present apportionment was made the centers of population have changed, and even the Porter census, which, it is well known, was taken in the interest of the republicans, shows what the result of the new enumeration will be. Owing to the refusal of the republican party to comply with the mandate of the constitution, the people of New York state have been deprived of their rightful representation both in congress and in the state legislature. Especially in the senate the republicans have managed to maintain an unlawful majority.

The new enumeration will place the balance of power in the senate where it right fully belongs-in the hands of the democrats. In other words, the democrats will elect not less than twenty senators, and other substantial benefits will accrue from the new enumeration. The democrats will have complete control of the state, and this fact has a vital bearing on the future of the democratic party of the nation.

To sum up, when the people of the south come to thoroughly understand the real nature of the work Governor Hill has performed, and begin to enjoy the beneficent results thereof, they will be quick to resent abuse of that distinguished democrat by editors who call themselves democrats.

The Internal Revenue System.

We print elsewhere a letter from Mr. W. T. Smith, of Buford, relative to the infamous excise system which has been the active cause of so many outrages against the rights and liberties of the citizen. He asks one question that demands the thoughtful attention of every individual who believes in that fundamental democratic principle, the right of local self-government-"Why have the democratic press and party held up on this outrageous system?"

Who will undertake to answer this question? Who will undertake to explain why a law which was denounced by the demo cratic party ten years ago has grown into favor with those who profess to be democrats? In its material features the law is still the same. Under its operations the blood of the innocent is still shed, and injustice and oppression is as busy as ever. It is now intimated by newspapers, which seem to have charge of democratic principles, that the internal revenue system, with all its active cruelties, is no longer obnoxious, but is to be tolerated because the revenue that it raises will enable the democratic party to proceed with tariff reform.

It should be stated that the democrat who holds to such a view has not only ceased to be a democrat, but knows nothing whatever of tariff reform. There is no question of revenue concerned in the opposition to the infamous excise system. Is it necessary for a tax collector to go about armed with repeating rifles ready and anxious to shoot down the violators of the law? How long would civil government last in Georgia if the officers of the law went about enforcing it with rifles and shotguns? Would it be in accordance with democratic principles for violators of the Georgia tax law to be pursued by armed posses, dragged from their homes and friends and thrown into jail without benefit of preliminary hearing? To make these inquiries is to answer them. The mission of the democratic party has been and is now to protect and defend the rights and liberties of the citizen, and to demand for all the right of local self-government. Silence in regard to the outrageous results of the internal revenue system is to give the law a quasi endorsement, and this THE CONSTITUTION does not propose to do. The law violates every suggestion of democracy and every principle of the democratic

Worse Than Silly.

It is hard to understand how those news papers which are urging the nomination of Mr. Cleveland for president hope to aid his cause by studied misrepresentations of the Tammany society and studied flings at the most prominent of its members.

Tammany hall is one of the most power ful as well as one of the most potent auxiliaries of the democratic party; it stands for straight democracy; and whenever the south has needed the aid of its representatives to defend her against dangerous legislation, the aid has always been forthcoming. It is natural that the republican partisans and the mugwump impotents should abuse and malign Tammany, but is that any reason why democrats should follow suit? It is true the featherheads cannot hurt Tammany or cool its democracy, but their abuse of the organization is in bad taste, to say the least. The democratic party in New York would be in a pickle without its active co-operation. And the democratic party of the country cannot do without New York. The featherheads should seek a quiet place and soak their heads. THERE OUGHT to be a chance for the colored troops, if war is declared against Chile. THE NEW YORK SUN has discovered that the mugwumps are not warriors. It is their business to abuse men; who have convictions on any subject.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

ONE OF the next great features of The Century Magazine will be a fit successor to the famou war series, the "Life of Lincoln," and other im portant historical works which have first seen the light in the pages of that magazine. This is no other than a new, thorough, scholarly, and yet popular "Life of Napoleon I," by a dis-tinguished American student and professor of history. Such a work is important and timely, because of the abundant new materials furnished by the opening of the different national archives and by the publica-tion of valuable memoirs. Lanfrey's "Napoleon" is incomplete and written with a polemic purpose. Thus far no biographylof the extraordinary has appeared in either English or French whi free from rancor and attentive to the laws of historical criticism. No one could have so fine a perspective or be more dispassionate in his judg ments than a competent American writer. The life|will be illustrated in The Century's most complete and artistic manner.

MAURICE H. HERVEY, The London Times correspondent in Chile, has written a book called "Dark Days in Chile," of which The New York Press says: "Mr. Hervey shows clearly that the Chilean insurrection was an uprising of the socalled aristocracy against a president who repre-sented liberal views and purposes, and that the movement was sustained and advanced to success by foreign nitrate adventurers and foreign mersoldiers. The British admiral at Valpa showed no hesitation in expressing sympathy for the insurgents, while the British minister insolently threatened Balmaceda in order to obtain the pardon of a condemned conspirator. Mr. Hervey frankly states that the only objection to Mr. Egan was the fact that the British in Chile could not tolerate him. A significant circumstance brought out in this book more plainly than in any press dispatches is the prominence of Europeans in the insurgent army. English money furnished support for the revolution to begin with, and both English and German officers virtually created the military force, which crushed Balmaceda. The Chilean revolutionists om to have succeeded chiefly in riveting a Eu ropean collar upon the neck of their country. WARNER MILLER is confident of favorable legislation by the present congress on his Nicarauga canal scheme. He went down there last year and fortified himself with a magnificent collection of facts and figures about the progress of the work and the value of the canal to American com merce. A personal inspection convinced him that the work can be finished in less time than the engineers estimated, and when he appears before a congressional committee he will be able to preent an array of figures that will surprise th

The American nation, whether facing England or France or Algiers or Mexico, has never made a disadvantageous peace. The result in every in-stance has been favorable to this country. And so it would be with Chile. Then would come with peace the question of indemnity. This could readily be exacted. The government receipts at the nitrate ports held by Chile amount, in round numbers, to $30,000,000 a year. These could be collected by the United States until complete indemnity had been exacted, not for the immediate expenditure alone, but also for the indirect burdens entitled burdens extended. s entailed by the struggle.

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

The friends of Carroll Payne and John Tye were hearty in their congratulations yesterday to these two well-known attorneys on the appointment of the firm of Payne & Tye as division counsel of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad for Georgia. As the Western and Atlantic railroad is almost entirely in Georgia, the appointment virtually makes this firm the attorneys of the Western and Atlantic railroad, all of the legal business of which will be conducted by Messrs. Payne & Tye, though of course the general supervision will vest in the general counsel of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, Messrs. East & Fogg, of Nashville.

The appointment of Messre. Payne & Tye as counsel for Georgia is a gratifying tribute to the standing and ability of both of these gentlemen, neither of whom is more than thirty-five years of Both are close students and hard workers, and the two make a combination of capatilities which make the firm one of the strongest in the

Both began anew the practice of their profession in Atlanta, but it was not long before each obtained a foothold which gave as surance of success. They have been gen-eral attorneys of the Atlanta and Flor-ida railroad, and now represent the ida railroad, and now represent the construction company, which holds the larg-est interest in that road. As division counsel for Georgia for the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. railway, their position ranks and considering the fact that they were appointed over twenty-seven others from Atlanta, whose names were considered, their friends have abundant reason to be proud of their success, nor could the great railroad which they represent business more satisfactorily it has been placed.

A gentleman from the fourth district-an old member of the general assembly—was in the city yesterday, and in conversation with a Constitu-TION reporter remarked:

In making entries for the congressional race in the fourth it is not safe to leave out Atkinson, of Coweta. Those who have served with him in the general assembly know that he generally win his fights. He is a fine campaigner, too, and no Georgian has won more reputation within the past few years than Will Atkinson, Georgian has won more reputation within the past few years than Will Atkinson, and no member of the legislature has exercised a more potential influence in shaping legislation. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

BUFORD, Ga., January 18 .- Editor Constitution BUFORD, Ga., January 18.—Editor Constitution: As a citizen of Georgia and a democrat I write to endorse your splendid editorial in Sunday's Constitution against the infamous excise system that has now been in force in this country for a quarter of a century. The editorial is frank, manly, truthful and to the point, and has the old-fashioned democratic ring about it. It ought to be, and will be, appreciated by every true democrat, who believes in local self-government.

Why have the democratic press and party held

Why have the democratic press and party held up on this outrageous system? The innocent blood that has been shed, and the foul crimes that have been committed in the so-called enforcement of this unreasonable unjust and tyrannical war measure will cause the civilized Christian people, who read its history twenty years hence, to blush with shame. In no country in the civilized world, except ours, do men go out to enforce civil law with repeating rifles. How many thousand imacent, honest, unlettered, toiling men in Georgia and the Carolinas have been taken away from their hor often by dirty spies and informers-without even orien by dirty spies and informers—without even having an opportunity to kiss their wives and little ones goodby? They have been spirited off, under pointed weapons, to distant cities, without money, counsel or time to consult with friends for their defense. prints of the country as "ignorant despe resting parties are held up as brave heroes defending their country's cause.

But I cannot, neither do I desire to go into details. The theme is revolting, to every liberty-loving citizen who believes in government by the consent of the governed. Perhaps there is not a county in northeast Georgia that has not had in nocent blood shed in its borders, and many happy homes ruined by this infamous system. Let the democratic party, and those who seek the suffrage of its adherents, throw aside policy and wipe out this disgraceful and dirtiest stigma the repub icans have fastened on our people. Why Not Raise Hops?

EDITOR CONSTITUTION—Why don't our farmers plant hops? I have seen an acre near Tacoma, Wash., realize $1,000, and the climate is very simiwash, realize $1,000, and the climate is very similar to ours. The crop of hops there varies from two to four thousand pounds per acre, and the last quotation in New York is: "Hops from 15 to 22 cents." Say we put the y.eld here at 500 pounds per acre, at 15 cents (the lowest price and one-fourth the amount of the lowest yield there), that will make $75 per acre.

Put this against action at 10 cents a pound

Put this against cotton at 10 cents a pound, which you may never get again. You figure it out yourselves. Ask your congressman to see Jerry Rusk and get the best information. Make enough hops anyhow to pay your expenses, and hold your cotton and reduce the acreage. See how small a farm it will take to make hops, increasing the amount of farm labor and furnishing oom for thousands who are now crowding to ch the cities. This diversifies and revivine the farmer, in whose hands the prosperity of the country lies. Look to it prayerfully. H. T. McDANIEL.

GEORGIA PRESS COMMENT.

From The Montgomery, Ga., Monitor.
We notice that The Brunswick Times seems to think that the eleventh congressional district was created for the sole benefit of Brunswick, and elected to congress from this district. Our contemporary says there was a private understanding at the time the district was made to that effect wickians to thus dispose of an important public trust that affects the interests of seventeen counties of the Empire State of the South. We hardly believe it is binding upon the yeomanry of the district. At all events, we expect to be foun battling for the nomination of him whom we be heve to be the best man for the entire district.

From The Fort Valley, Ga., Leader. If the national convention should nominate Senator Hill for the democratic standard bearer we should support him with a great deal of en-thusiasm. We know of no man in the country who has done or will do more, or has the ability backed by the energy and inclination to further the great principles of democracy in a greater measure than Senator Hill.

From The Rome, Ga., Tribune. It is no joke about Jim Lampton's going to the senate. He is on his way now to Atlanta to engage rooms at the Kimball.

POLITICS AT LARGE.

From The Birmingham, Ala., Age-Herald, Demi Our esteemed contemporary, The Seima Times Mail, characterizes David Bennett as "Hill, th democratic hero." Our contemporary is in the front rank of the democratic column

From The New York World, Dem. One voice from the group of heedless partisan in Washington cries out for peace. It is a strong and mighty voice. It is the voice of James G

At no time since he became the electric light of this administration has the secretary of state ap-peared to greater advantage than he appears now. While Mr. Harrison, in playing the game of politics discredits the nation as a bully in the eves of the civilized world. Mr. Blaine stands forth the statesman—true to the real interests of his country, true to American chivalry, and true to that sound sense which is the chief characteristic of the American people.

From The New York World, Dem., Washington

It is a plain, simple fact, which any man may verify at his will, that David B. Hill is the politi-cal lion of the capital. What Blaine was once in the republican family and would perhaps be now but for his ill health, Hill is to the democracy. His fellow senators outdo each other in paying him tribute. It is really amusing. If Gorman contem plates making a point of order he first consults Hill. If Carlisle thinks he sees a possible oppor-tunity to nail upon Benjamin Harrison a most offensive section of the McKinley bill, he discusses it before the grate fire in the cloakroom with the real democrat from New York. If Mc-Pherson figures out to his own satisfaction a new way to set aside the silver perplexity, he retires to a corner with his friend from across Hudson. If Faulkner wishes to set before Hudson. If Faulkner wishes to set before his friends a particularly succulent dish he first advises with Senator Hill regarding the relative merits of blue-points and saddle-rocks. When the now famous baldhead appears over the screen in the house the democratic side is promptly deserted, and the hero of the hour is surrounded by admirers and Iriends. Even strangers in the corridors instinctively fall back and form a lane for the triumphant passage of David B. Hill.

The Indianapolis Sentinel and the Indiana Permocracy. .
From The Shellbyville, Ind., Daily Democrat.

All this talk about holding the national conven-tion at Indianapolis is breath wasted on the desert air. It is admitted, however, that, under ordinary circumstances, Indianapolis might be selected and, as a matter of expediency and party advan-tage, it ought to have it; but it is sheer nonsense tage, it ought to have it; but it is sheer nonsense to ask the national committee to give Indianapolis the convention while the alleged state democratic organ is openly and notoriously fighting the most probable nominee of that convention. The signs of the times now strongly point to the nomination of David B. Hill, and the national nomination of David B. Hill, and the national committee will hardly be guilty of so reckless an act as holding the convention in a city where the party organ is fighting the nominee and threatening to bolt the nomination. Before The Indianapolis Sentinel is in an attitude to ask favors of the democratic party it must get in line. It must learn to give and take. It should observe that the democrats it abuses most are the very men who will be first consulted as to the place of holding the convention. The Sentinel has much cause for repentance, and before this campaign closes it will be on the mercy seat, if it cares to march with the democratic hosts. For the information of all parties interested. The Democrat ventures the opinion that the national convention will be held at St. Paul, Minn.

CAM KENDALL CHARGED WITH THE CRIME

And Is Taken to Griffin, Where He Will Be Given a Preliminary Trial-The Evidence Against Him.

The brutal and heartless murder of old Dr. Barrett and his wife near Cresswell about three weeks ago comes to the front again.

Sam Kendall, a negro man, has been arrested, charged with the crime. The arrest was made in West End yesterday The arrest was made in West End yesterday by Marshal McConnell, of East Point, and the prisoner is now securely confined in the Spaid-ing county jail at Griffin.

A few days after the murder was committed discoveries were made which indicated that a

Sam Kendall, that was the negro's name, had lived for years near old Dr. Barrett's home and has worked on the place, and when it was given out that he was suspected of the crime, everyone was on the watch out for But it remained for Marshal McConnell, of East Point, to make the capture. Sunday last a strange negro made his appearance in East Point. He answered the description given of Kendall, and Marshal McConnell was not long in observing it. He nuickly approached the negro, but, after questioning him carefully, was uncertain. The negro gave his name as Jack Lawrence, nd declared that his home was in South Carolina. He gave a pretty clear account of himself, and, for the time, Marshal McConnell was unable to decide what he should do. He, owever, determined to watch the negro closely, and in doing so called upon a negro in whom he had every contidence. That negro watched the suspected man closely and early Friday notified Marshal McConnell that Lawrence had left East Point for West End, and was working in that Atlanta suburb. The marshal's assistant was instructed to watch the negro, and in the meantime evidence was eing accumulated by the officer. Yesterday the marshal became thoroughly satisfied that the man he was having watched was Kendall, and at once went to West End, where he succeeded in making the arrest without any trouble.

At first the negro repeated the story he had told when the marshal first approached him. He denied that his name was Kendall, but when Marshal McConnell argued the case a little, the prisoner said:

"Yes; I'm Sam Kendall. That's my name." "Did you ever live near Creswell?" the narshal asked.
"Yes, but I don't know anything about the lling of old Dr. Barrett and his wife.' "Where were you that night?"

"At my home, just where I should have een. But I'm ready now to stand any trial. cause what I have told you is true.'

Marshal McConnell carried his prisoner to East Point and placed him in prison to await the down train on the Central. When that train reached East Point, Marshal McConnell and his prisoner started for Griffin, where Kendall was surrendered to Sheriff

The negro not only admits that his name is Kendall, but his appearance indicates that he is. He fills the description accurately. Just what evidence there is to fix the of-tuse upon Kendall is not known, but those the are working the case say they have mough to warrant his arrest.

The relatives of Dr. and Mrs. Barrett claim at there is a long chain of circumstantial evidence against Kendall. They consider him the key to the situation, whether his hand struck the fatal blow or not.

They have had Sheriff Patrick, of Griffin, and officers at Senoia working on the case since the night of the tragedy, and they report that points to Kendall and Jerry Holt as the murderers. This conclusion was reached by Sheriff Patrick several days ago, and he and others to whom he confided have been searching for

They fully expect to convict both Kendall and Holt, but believe that in the former they have the conceiver and engineer, if not the executor of the crime. Holt swore at the coroner's inquest that he saw Kendall at Dr. Bar-rett's home less than two hours before the tragedy. In subsequent testimony and inter-views Holt has made contradictory and con-ficiently statements about both himself and Kandall

Kendall.

Kendall was searched for, but could not be produced at the inquest, and has succeeded in steering clear of public places and officers since. These circumstances and others, supplemented with the subsequent conduct and bad character of Kendall, form the basis upon which his arrest was ordered. which his arrest was ordered.

and in One Instance the Department Bad to Put Out a Burning Engine. The fire department had three calls yester day morning.

Two were telephoned in, and the fires proved to be due to burning chimneys.

Just before noon an engine was left by the freman and engineer on the Western and Atlantic, near Simpson street. While they were gone the engineer's seat took fire, and soon the entire woodwork was ablaze.

The fire was soon put out. The damage was slight.

LOADED FOR BEAR.

An Italian's Bear Escapes Near Jonesbor and Makes Himself Known. About three miles east of Jonesboro the people are badly seared up on account of a bear, who prowls through the woods at night, seeking whom he may devour.

Colonel John B. Hutcheson, the well-known John B. Hutcheson, the well-known young attorney, tells the story.

About three miles east of Jonesboro is a densely wooded area of perliaps four hundred acres, called Hurricane woods. Its name was given it a quarter of a century ago on account of a destructive cyclone which passed over it, leveling the timber which covered it to the ground. It is as impressed as the jungles of eveling the timber which covered it to the round. It is as impassable as the jungles of Africa, and here is where his bearship resides.

A few nights ago the bear killed a calf in the barnyard of Tax Collector Christian, of that county, killed two dogs at a residence near by, and was seen at both places.

Over fifty people living on the outskirts of this dense wood have seen the bear, and Mr. J. T. Mann met bruin in the road. Mr. Mann gave the bear the road, but bruin attacked him and a hand-to-hand conflict ensued, in which Mr. Mann was slightly worsted. He stabbed the bear twice and escaped.

A hunting party will scour the Hurricane woods tomorrow and search for the bear.

They are loaded for bear.

The Waterworks Contract-Beer License Approved-Other News.

The award of the contracts for the preliminary work on the waterworks were made yesterday morning.

The Atlanta Machine Works was awarded the contract for the fifteen boilers, their figures Briree & Russell, of Savannah, get the grad ing for the railroad. They will get $5,811.25.
Of the twenty-two bidders on the construction of the reservoir, the lucky one was S. B.

Moseby & Co., of Bedford City, Va., to whom was awarded the contract at $52,347.60. It has been agreed, and a clause to that effect will go into the contract, that Atlanta labor shall be used to as great an extent as possible. The reservoir is to be finished by

There Was No Vote. Mayor Hemphill gave his official approval to the much-talked-about beer licenses yesterday, and thereby put an end to the speculation concerning his probable action.

The licenses granted were six in number, and were as follows: William Bender, 54 West Hunter street; John M. Hall, 304 Marietta; D. F. Beiser, 258 Decatur; George Loyless, 509 Marietta; William Walport, 107 West Mitchell; and S. Jordan, 227 Simpson

It is understood that the police committee of the council has consented to the licensing of ten beer saloons, and Mayor Hemp-bill will give his official sanc-tion to that number. These are to be confined to business localities, and will be given to no objectionable characters

Mayor Hemphill's former veto of the beer licenses, when they were being granted almost indiscriminately, has resulted in the weeding out of the most objectionable ones and the con fining of those granted to business localities That means the carrying out of the original intention of the law, and as long as this is done there will hardly be any objections, either from the residents of those localities or from the police, who have complained, in the past, of the "blind tiger" proclivities of some of

OLD TIMES IN POLK COUNTY.

The Oldest Inhabitant Talks of the Days Be fore the War. CEDARTOWN, Ga.. January 21.-[Special.]-

In the year 1852, Polk county was made from Paulding, Carroll and Floyd, and perhaps some from Cass, now Bartow county. The first sheriff was the late William M. Phillips, with Brooks M. Willingham as deputy sheriff.

The first superior court was held before there was any courthouse built. At this court, Katie, a negress, the property of Mr. George Garrison, was condemned to hang. Her crime was that of the murder of her five children, all at one killing. She was executed in what is known as the "Kate field," (from which circumstance it took that name,) near where the railroad enters on the north side of where the railroad enters on the north side of town. The railroad runs over the spot where the gallows stood.

The first court house was of brick, built by Robert D. Jones, who also built the dwelling now owned by Mrs. A. C. Prior. The jail was also of brick and stood on or near where the Stuffregan house is. Both of these were burnt by the federals in 1864.

After the war the old wooden jail was built by M. F. Harris, "Uncle Mike," by contract, for, I think $750. This jail was used for several years, and there never was a jail delivery except through the unlocked doors.

OTHER INTERESTING SOCIETY EVENTS.

A Luncheon Given by Mrs. Peters-Gossip About Society Events and People You Know.

The reception which Mrs. Henry Powers gave to her mother, Mrs. Governor Robinson, of George-town, Ky., was a highly enjoyed and very delight-town, Ky., was a highly enjoyed and very delightful one. It occurred yesterday afternoon and evening, during which time the hostess received some two hundred guests, these being many of the most prominent married people and young people in society.

Mrs. Robinson's pretty home on Houston street was brilliantly illuminated and beautifully adorned for the occasion. The veranda's were enclosed and turned into bowers of luxurious beauty by tropical plants, rich divans and rugs. The floors were covered with crash and dancing was enjoyed in the evening. The drawing room on the right had the walls and pictures decorated with ferns, smilax and palmettoes, while many beautiful suilax and palmettoes, while many beautiful azalias growing in pretty gardineres adorned the pianos and tables. The room opposite was decorated in many palms and other tropical plants. At the end of the hallway, beneath a beautiful bower of green vines the punch table was placed, and here delicious punch was serfed. The duplay room's decorations were was served. The dining room's decorations were very lovely, and all of the damask used on the large center table, and the smaller ones, at which refreshments were served, was exquisite. A handsome cut-glass candelabra, with pink, yelnancisome cut-glass candelabra, with pink, yel-low and white tappers, adorned the center of the table, and this rested upon a mirror, surrounded by smilax, and placed upon a center piece of finest linen, embroidered richly in pale pink sliks. Sev-eral mats matching this, adorned other parts of the table, which was otherwise decorated with beautifully iced fruits and bowls of lovely roses. The walls were arranged with graceful bamboo vines, and a lace-curtained archway led to another pretty retreat where refreshments were served. Mrs. Powers received her guests in a handsome toilet of red satin, trimmed with embroidered chiffon, the V-cut neck finished with point lace, and her jewels being superb diamonds.

Mrs. Robinson was very handsome in a magnificent costume of black velvet handsomely trimmed with black lace. Her ornaments were splendid diamonds.

The ladies who assisted in receiving, with descriptions of their costumes, are as follows:

Mrs. Wade, handsome black velvet embroidered in gold; diamonds.

Mrs. McConnell, black velvet trimmed in jet Mrs. Snook, black satin trimmed with lace

Miss Snook, black lace and gold passementerie.

Mrs. Melone, black and white slik trimmed with lace and jet.

Mrs. Farley, elegant yellow satin richly trimmed with duchesse lace and pearl passementerie.

Mrs. Albert Cox, a handsome yellow satin, combined with striped brocade and trimmed with Mrs. Harvey Johnson, handsome toilet of electric blue silk, trimmed with beaver.

From 8 to 11 o'clock Mr. Jim Powers's friends among the young society folks were entertained and dancing was enjoyed.

The luncheon at which Mrs. Edward C. Peters entertained ten of her friends yesterday was a beautiful one. Mrs. Peters's home is a mansion most exquiste in every detail, and one bespeaking that sunny graceful hospitality which is one of the many graces of the lady of the house. The damask lunchoon cloth was scattered with Jank carnations and white hyacinths, and a bowl of these blossoms adorned the center. The cut-; flat candelabras held white tapirs with plnk satis shades. The favors were bouquets of hyacinths and carnations, while at each cover were hand-painted cards with the guests' names inwrought with sprays of hyacinths and ferns.

The menu was perfect and exquisitely served.
Those present were Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Donald Bain, Mrs. Clarence Knowles, Mrs. John Fitten, Mrs. Frank Colley, of Washington, Ga.; Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Nellie Black, Mrs. Joseph Thompson, Mrs. Ohl.

Pointed and Personal. Mrs. Frank Colley, of Washington, Ga., is the guest of Mrs. John Fitten.

Miss Cornelia Jackson is quite ill with the grip. Miss Hattie Snook is still in Macon with Miss Hatcher, where she is a reigning belle.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ellis leave for New York today. Their visit here has been one continual ovation, and their going away is sincerely regretted by their many friends.

Miss Kathleen Jones left for the north Monday, to be absent a month or more.

Miss Cade Sparks, an attractive yourig lady of Rome, is at the Kimball house.

Mrs. J. M. Edwards, accompanied by her two charming daughters, passed through A tlanta yes-terday on their way from Athens to their home in Memphis. They were in their private car and gave.quite a delightful, though informal, luncheon waiting on the schedules.

to a pleasant company of friends who visited them while waiting on the schedules.

Miss Lizzie Edwards was one of the Joveliest of the post graduates of Lucy Cobb last //ear and was a member of the European party that, went touring through the old world with Miss; Rutherford in the summer.

Miss Mannie Moore, of Mobile, is visiting Mrs. T. D. Meador. She will spend seve ral days there before returning to her home in Mobile.

Everybody remembers the unique literary din ner given by Miss Rutherford, of the Lucy Cobb institute, Athens, last year, complimentary to the post-graduate class. She will five another this year. The menu will be in literary puzzles, names of authors representing dainty viands and so forth, and the courses will be, we to be guessed correctly before they are served.

Messrs. R. L. Foreman, William Black and Jack Cohen leave for Nashville Saturday night, where they will be the guests of Mr. Waiter Cain. Mr. Cain was in Atlanta at the Fi iten wedding, and made a host of friends during his short stay. He is, besides being one of the most popular southern journalists, the prince of good fellows, and will doubtless royally entertain his Atlanta friends. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lowe, with their daughter

Miss Rebie, leave today for Plorida. They go to St. Augustine and Tampa. When they return Miss Lowe will go to New York to resume her studies at Miss Peeble's. Mr. Inman Sanders, who has been quite ill at the Virginia Military institute, has returned home for a short while to regain his strength. Miss Susie Lucas, the a complished daughter of Mr. F. W. Lucas, of Athens, Ga., is visiting her friend, Miss Annie Wallace, at 75 East Pine street. "For what?" ivas asked.

"You are wanted in Alabama for murder," said Rush, "and I am going to take you

The negro assured the would-be officer that he was perfectly innocent of any such charge, but quietly gave in.
Rush then went through the man's pockets, asking him abcut any weapons, and finally abstracted a dollar and other contents.
When this was done, he led the negro to one side, and be gan talking of handcuffing him. The suppe sed criminal told him to go ahead, but Rush finally left him, after getting a promise from the negro that he wouldn't leave town.

Rush's actions soon convinced the negro that he was a begus officer. Dordan then set about to get his dollar back. He searched for Rush, and yester day morning found him. The negro tried to get his dollar back, and, failing do so, had him arrested. Rush was brought to the station house by Patrolman Mehuffy, and yesterday afternoon appeared before Recorder Calhoun, charged with assuming to be an officer. He was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. Failing to pay this, he was sent to the stockade for eleven progress which animates the Atlanta fire department, and the fin al exit was made yester and the hose wagen made its debut. It is a great improvement on the old hose reel, being 2,000 pounds lighter and carrying the hose in a much hander manner.

Five of these hose wagons were introduced yesterday, one being assigned to each of the companies. They are very handsome, and are finished in a neat and attractive style. At the same time they were built, one was built for the Birmingham department, the difference being that the Atlanta wagons had ("A. F. D." marked on their sides, and the Birmingham wagons had "B. F. D."

All of the wagons were built by John M. Smith, of this city.
Chief Joyner's picture is painted on one of the wagons, on another is the picture of "Cap" Joyner, Jr., and on still another is the picture of the Grant park lion.

Mr. Arnold Broyles, Receiver for the Metropolii an, at Work. Mr. Arnold Broyles, the recently-appointed receiver of the Mistropolitan Street Railway Company, went to work yesterday preparing an inventory of the company's belongings in Atlanta. He will conduct this work with all possible haste, and as soon as it is finished he will make his report to Judge Clarke. The appointment of a receiver for this com-

SENT TO THE STOCKADE,

But He Is Undoubtedly Crazy, and It so Impressed the Judge.

Judge Calheun yesterday sent John Carroll to the stockade for thirty days for loitering. The man is, however, evidently mentally deranged, and so impressed every one.

Every night for ten days he has come to the station house at exactly midnight and applied for lodging. He would always enter and warm himself, and as soon as he stated his request would edge poward the door as though frightened.

carroll wears a beard and has a peculiar look. He has told the strangest kind of tales—loow his sister, in Birmingham, droves him from home; how a big sum of money awaited him in the local express office if his lawyers could only collect it, and how he has wandered all over the United States in search of work.

He aroused a great deal of sympathy, and Judge Calinoun regarded it a humane act to have him provided for in some way for the next month.

When Carroll gets out a writ of non composiments will undoubtedly be sworn out.

Many Georgia Farmers Are Applying for

TWO HUNDRED POUNDS GIVEN OUT.

The Commissioner of Agriculture Urges the Farmers to Go Slow—Some Facts About Tobacco Culture,

There is going to be a great deal of tobacco rown in Georgia this year.

It is probable, indeed, that Georgia may, in time, become one of the leading tobacco states of the union, and one of the sources of supply for the tobacco consuming world.

North Carolina, Kentucky, Virginia and the Connecticut valley have been the chief places for growing the weed in this country for a long time, and to them the tobacco trade has looked for its source of very fine goods, too.

Tobacco has never been planted in Georgia on anything like a large scale, but a turn has come in the affairs of Georgia farmers by reason of the disastrous overproduction of cotton for the past few years, and they are now trying to see their way out of the woods, so to speak, by planting something besides cotton. In this way many Georgia farmers are turning their attention to raising tobacco. Colonel R. T. Nesbitt, commissioner of agriculture, is very anxious to aid the farmers in arriving at a safe conclusion about this overproduction of cotton. He does not like to see them fail utterly by continuing to run in debt on extensive cotton planting, and yet he advises them to go carefully about making a change without some safeguard against failure with any other crop.

. The Farmer Must Go Slow. "In this matter of tobacco culture," said the commissioner, "I am urging the farmers to go slow, believing that it will not be safe to dash into a line of farming hitherto unknown t them, except with some circumspection. "While it is true that too much cotton has been the ruin of many a Georgia planter, it is still true that too much tobacco will be ruin to many more. There is nothing wrong about planting cotton, if the farmers will raise their supplies also. The first thing is to secure a living at home, after all. When this is done, then think about the best way of making a little extra money. Cotton raised as an extra crop will be a great success, but when raised exclusively it will be a disastrous failure."

"Have you not encouraged the farmers to raise tobacco?" was asked. "Yes, but only as a test. I believe that our soil and climate are as good for tobacco culture as those of any state in the union. 1

"Why not, then, give tobacco a trial? Very many farmers can raise their own tobacco, thus economizing by cutting down a very significant expenditure in the way of domestic supplies. If they plant tobacco on a large enough scale to warrant the employment of an expert, I see no reason why they cannot grow tobacco for sale, and at a considerable profit, too. It requires an expert to cure tobacco for shipment, though, and this must be borne in mind."

'Every day the agricultural department receives dozens of letters from farmers asking for a package of tobacco seed, and perhaps about two hundred pounds have been sent out. Visitors call every day and ask for seed, and every indication is that a vast amount of tobacco will be planted in Georgia this year despite the commissioner's warning to the farmers that too much tobacco all of a sudden is as bad as too much cotton. What One Planter Did.

What One Planter Did.

A prominent Georgia planter who owns plantations in Columbia county, but who lives in Birmingham, Ala., was in the agricultural department yesterday speaking of tobacco culture in Georgia.

He said that he intended to plant enough corn and small grain, and raise enough meat for the support of his plantations, and aside from this twould divide the remainder of land under cultivation between cotton and tobacco. "Why, there is money in tobacco," he said. "I heard a truck farmer from southern Georgia say the other day that he planted twenty acres in the weed; employed an expert from Virginia to manage the crop, and sold the yield for $4,000, estimating the entire cost at $600."

If every farmer could do the same, cotton would never go down to 6 cents again, to a dead certainty.

WOULDN'T WORK ON SUNDAY.

A School Commissioner Resigns-Final Tax Settlements A very interesting case is that of County School Commissioner William F. Today Lucius Dotson, who killed Jeff Coates near Savannah, will pay the penalty.

He will not receive a respite from Governor Northen. The governor stopped in Savannah to investigate the matter more fully on his return trip from Jessup, and after looking thoroughly into the facts, he says he cannot possibly take it upon nimself to interfere with the law. The evidence is stern; the plea for a respite is upheld chiefly by some women from some beneficent order whose chief cry is mercy. Law is law, and Governor Northen cannot break the laws of the state with a clear conscience.

Dotson will hang today.

Street railways depend upon small sums—nickels-for support. Their income is necessarily limited, and the best of them cannot bear heavy judgments as can standard roads with large traffic and income.

Standard roads rely mainly upon freight traffic for earnings, but street roads have nothing but passengers, handling great numbers of people for small cost to them and a limited revenue for itself.

The large number of people transported by street roads makes the chances for personal injuries frequent, in a great many instances due to the negligance of the nger, but many suits are brought and damages matter how greatly the plaintiff con-

THE NEW YORK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

Exchange. NEW YORK, January 21.—The great strength, which yesterday was the feature of the stock market, was lacking today, and in its place there was great fever-ishness under frequent attacks of room traders, who have not yet covered their efficients. There was an attempt to cover at the opening, but advances over last right? Great was a which are the property of the first sales which are the property of the sales when her had been supported. night's figures were shown by the first sales which extended to % per cent in Louisville and Nashville, tended to % per cent in Louisville and Nashville, changed tactics, and drives were made from time to time, here and there in the list, without any material effect, and prices tonight are practically where they were yesterday. The great feature of the day was the sudden and decided strength in Coalers, especially Lackawanna and leading. The movement, however, was only sufficient to recover the losses in Reading, although the business in the stock was very large, while Lackawanna was advanced nearly a per cent while Lackawanna was advanced nearly 3 per cent from its lowest figures and it closed with a very substantial gain. The general list was in the main quiet, stantial gain. The general list was in the main quiet, and held within narrow limits, being heavy in the forenoon but rallying in the last hour with an upward movement in Lackawanna. Cordage was the only other really strong point in the list, and both common and preferred rose about 1 per cent. The close of the market was quiet and generally firm, at insignificent changes for the day, with advances and losses about equally divided. The advance in Lackawanna was 2 per cent and Cordages each 1 per cent. Sales, listed 403,600 shares; unlisted 11,000.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, January 21.—The Liverpool market this morning seemed to be divided by conflicting emotions. At the opening prices were 3-6id higher as a result of yesterday's advance here. Measrs. Neill Bros., however, succeeded in inducing a reaction by the mere reiteration of their faith in their previously expressed opinion that the crop would not be less than ed opinion that the crop would not be less that 8,700,000 bales. At the decline, however, confident buy ing on the part of those who had early information of receipts, absorbed such cotton as was offered, and by 1 o'clock prices were back within 3 points of yesterday's close. Receipts for the day promise to be 12,000, against 19,000 last year. For tomorrow, the best information indicates that they will be only 12,000, against 33,000 last year. The total at all ports for the week does not seem likely to exceed 100,000 bales, against 175,000 bales last year. The interior receipts are very light, probably not more than 20,000 bales, against 59,000 last year. Cables from Liverpool advise us that the deciency in the East India supply this year is now estimated at 600,000 bales, and Messrs. Ellison & Co., of Liverpool, cable us that 2,800 bales of American cotton were brought there today for export to Bombay and Japan, with more to follow. In the close consideration that is being given to the American supply at present, the deficiency in the East Indian supply at present, the deficiency will, as above stated, read anctor of ultimate strength is entirely disregarded assuming that this deficiency will, as above stated, read assuming that this deficiency will, as above stated, read so only the world's supply this year, as compared with inst, even with an American crop of 8,600,000 bales, and should the production in this country turn out to be not over 8,000,000 bales, as is still quite within the range of possibility, much higher prices would unquestionably result. The day has been an apt illustration of the fullility of individual crop estimates, when pitted against the logic of receipts. During the afternoon the market continued quiet and sight's prices. Receipts at the four interior towns of bemphis, St. Louis, augusta and Cincinnati are 2,137 bales, against 5,160 last year. With any encouragement from Liverpool, the probabilities favor a higher market here tomorrow. receipts, absorbed such cotton as was offered, and b Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter. By private wire to A. P. Youngblood. by private wire to A. P. Youngblood.

NEW YORK, January 21—The early news from Liverpool was again disappointing, which was reflected in our opening, the same showing a decline of 668 points on the general list which, as yesterday, was again recovered in the course of the session. Values, after continuing easy till about noon, gradually hard-ened, and almost recovered to the break of yesterday when it became known that New Orleans would have when it became known that New Orleans would have light receipts tomorrow. The large trading has been for local account, although the south in the main were buyers again today. Towards the close efforts were made by room traders to depress the market. The re-sult, however, was of no consequence and the close may be called very steady. The receipts at the ports today were light, and will be quite small for the week, the general estimate being about 103,000 bales, against 175,000 bales for the same week last very. We have it. 175,000 bales for the same week last year. We have it still from a number of sources that bad weather con tracts the movement, to what extent we cannot determine. Although we believe in cotton in the long run, and have little doubt that in the end we shall do still better, the immediate future depends entirely upon what cotton comes into sight. Any heavy day will have a depressing effect, while just the reverse may be expected in page 15 pages 15 expected if no great change takes place in the ratio of the movement. Manchester advices simply call the market steadier.

Closed steady; sales 60,800 bales.

CHICAGO, January 21 .- The wheat market today was strong and advanced early, but weakened and de-clined later, closing easy at about the lowest price of chined later, closing easy at boots the lowest price of the day. The market was governed largely by the supply and demand, irrespective of outside or regular influences. Early there was a good demand, helped along by firmer foreign markes and small receipts and the continuation of the bullish feeling which existed yesterday; but the advance brought out free offerings and realising sales without any particularly unfavor-able news, and a sharp reaction followed. Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

By Private Wire to A. P. Youngblood. CHICAGO, January 21.—Cables brought reports of vance in our markets the past two days. A few heavy shorts were large buyers, taking all offerings at abo 93c for awhile. A local trader who has con influence with the trade, and who bought a large ! influence with the trade, and who bought a large line around 90c, was instrumental in bulling the market yesterday and led the selling today on the advance. Some closing Liverpool cables were not so strong as anticipated. Later the French stocks were posted estimating an increase of 4,300,000 bushels during the past month. Offerings immediately became very large, and aithough two prominent shorts were liberal buyers, the market continued to decline, closing fieavy at the lowest point of the day.

The country roads are now somewhat improved. Should this cause a slight increase of receipts, we think the chances unfavorable for any further advance and About as Many More Are to Be Es tablished-The Importance of the Work.

Georgia is going to have the best and most emplete weather service of any state in the Great changes have been inaugurated in the sims and methods of the weather bureau since it became a part of the department of agricul-Since Mr. Park Morrill has been appointed director of the Georgia weather service, this state has been selected as a territory for a particular effort in the way of enlarging the work and increasing the usefulness of the Mr. Morrill is going to establish an observation station in every town of any size in the state, and arrange for disseminating the weather information thus received in all the agricultural centers. These stations will be placed in charge of reliable voluntary ob-servers, whose powers will be larger than is generally granted to members of the service ntside of Washington.

In addition to value this information will a locally where it is gathered and made public by aid of maps and flags. It will be telegraphed to Atlanta each night, and a general forecast for the state or district and wired to all the local stations early the following morning, thereby giving a village of 200 inhabitants as good a weather service as the largest city in the country enjoys.

A system of flag signals has been devised by means of which the forecasts can be conveyed to the population of a considerable district by a single display on some prominent flagstaff. In some sections of the country this system has already been widely introduced and has met with the highest approval. The flags are five in number, two constituting a hoist, and in proper combination indicate the approach of proper combination indicate the approach of fair weather, a general rain or snow, or local showers, as the case may be, and also the changes of temperature and the probability of frosts (in spring and autumn) and cold waves in winter. The limited funds at the disposal of the bureau render it in general impossible to furnish the flags, but their cost, some ten or twelve dollars for the set, is trifling in view of the great benefit communities will derive from accurate information as to weather conditions.

the great benefit communities will derive from accurate information as to weather conditions. Few, perhaps, are aware what extensive machinery is brought into action to gather the data which results in these forecasts. At 150 points scattered throughout the United States and at some twenty more in Canada, observers accurately record, at the same moment twice every day, all the meteorological facts which determine the weather. From each of these points within an hour a report is received at Washington. Then all the facts thus gathered are graphically charted on maps of the United States and these form the basis on which forecasts are made. Then the telegraph again bears the conclusions of the forecast official throughout the country. On a somewhat less elaborate scale and in a more localized manner the same thing is done at the local forecast stations, such as Atlanta.

It is the result produced by this great mechanism which is offered in the system of forecast telegrams and signal displays above outlined. While, as above stated, it is impossible in general for the bureau to furnish the signal diags, yet, in order to secure a certain acquaintance with the advantages of the sys-signal flags, yet, in order to secure a certain acquaintance with the advantages of the system, it is proposed to furnish both flags and forecasts to county seats in Georgia, when a reliable person shall have been secured to reliable person shall have been secured to make the displays.

An important adjunct of the Georgia washer service will be its system of weekly crop report bulletins which will be inaugurated at the opening of next spring and will continue throughout the growing season. These weekly reports of weather and crops are proving a powerful check upon dishonest speculation, which seeks to disturb market prices to the serious loss of the farmer. Sent by telegraph to the great state centers and published every week in the papers, they convey very reliable information as to the exact conditions of the crops and with increasing efficiency are of the crops and with increasing efficiency are checking false rumors and reports. It is hoped ultimately to secure an observa-tion station in every county of the state, and

The observation and collection of information will have to be done by voluntary observers, and the funds at the command of the bureau will not justify any compensation for the service. All the instruments, maps, flags, etc., will be supplied by the government, and avery other receible anything possible funds. every other possible auxiliary possible furnished.

The advantages of a state service are so num ous and so clearly evident that it is thought ere will be no difficulty in securing capable there will be no difficulty in securing capable and trustworthy observers as rapidly as instruments can be supplied. The value of accurate climate data is beyond question in numberless ways. It supplies the information as to rainfail on the various watersheds of the state necessary to guide cities and towns in building water and source and towns in building ater and sewerage systems. It determines be conditions as to heat, moisture, winds and the conditions as to heat, moisture, winds and other matters of the highest value to the intelligent farmer. It forms the only basis for judging of the various claims of different sections as health resorts. It puts invaluable information into the hands of physicians in dealing with epidemic diseases. It will also be the means of securing better forecasts of the weather by disciosing local peculiarities of climate. In its ulimate development it will ender possible local warnings of frost and flood, and possibly of hall and thunder storms.

TO SETTLE HERE.

That Is the Desire of Mr. Thomas Davis, of Almost Everywhere.

HE SAYS HE IS HUNTED DOWN,

And Is Very Particular on the Score of His Innocence-He's Now the Guest of Chief Connolly.

Tom Davis, the famous desperado, now ocupies a cell at the station house.

He was brought to Atlanta yesterday after-noon by Detectives Cason and Wooster. W. T. Broderick, the fireman on the Georgia Pacific who caught him, also came along.

Davis's arrest was a very difficult and troublesome one. Broderick, who was once a policeman here, had met the man and knew him well. He traced Davis to East Lake, near Birmingham, and intended following him to that city. But the shrewd fellow saw the fireman just as he boarded the train reached for his pistol. He was not quick enough however, for in an instant he was covered while Broderick's left hand grasped Davis's neck and began to strangle him.

"If you don't give in," said lie, as Davis began struggling, "I'll kill you."

"Kill and be d-d," was the reply.

Broderick had the advantage, however, and in a minute the conductor disarmed Davis.

He then gave in, and with a laugh agreed to "talk it all over." He was handcuffed and taken to Birming-

Since then Davis has been behaving very quietly. In his cell yesterday he was in an excellent humor, and talked pleasantly to all the officers who called to see him.

It seemed difficult to believe from his appearance that he was the desperado he is reputed to be. He seems good natured, and talks fluently and intelligently. Yesterday he declared that he was being hounded down, and was tired of it. "I wouldn't escape if I could," said he.

"I'm going to get clear of all the charges against me, and then settle down in Atlanta against he, and then settle down in Atlanta-my old home. For three years I have been hunted for; every time a burglary was com-mitted I was the more vigorously searched for, and I declare I haven't done a wrong thing since I left here last."

"Where have you been in that time?" was

"Here and there," was the reply. "Mostly railroading. I have been in the south most of the time."

"How about the Rome express robbery?" "How about the Rome express robbery?"
Davis laughed and then said: "I am no more guilty of that than the other robberies I am accused of. I was in Illinois when that train was robbed and can prove it very easily. I was there digging coal for several days."
"When did you last see Bill Morris, your pal?" was asked:
"Not since he escaped from the penitentiary several years ago. No," he continued, "I several years ago. No," he continued, "may have done lots of deviltry and may be a bad one, but I have been all right since escaped from the Montgomery county jail."

All of which remains to be seen.

Just what Davis will be tried for now, seems undecided upon. He asserted his innocence of the express robbery so strongly to Captain Couch last night that he may not be tried to Mr. F. W. Capers, Jr., and has received the following reply:

There are fully a dozen cases against him. GENERAL CAPERS'S SON

AUGUSTA, Ga., January 20.—Colonel R. L. Rodgers, Atlanta, Ga. My Dear Colonel: Yours enclosing the very beautiful resolutions on the death of my father, passed by the resident cadets in Atlanta, has just reached ine. How this tribute would have tonehed the dear old gentleman!

How he delighted to dwell on your history; to turn page after page of its bright record; to fix in the hearts of his children a love for the old institute and its memories.

If anything was needed to consummate this dream of his heart, it has been added by this chaplet which "his boys" have placed on his tomb. Transmit to them, my dear colonel, for us our grateful appreciation of this expression of love and esteem.

I will see that the Charleston papers publish the resolutions. With kind regards, yours sincerely, Judge Rodgers says the reply is character.

MR. HYDE HERE.

President of the Greatest Insurance Company in North America

IS VISITING ATLANTA ON BUSINESS.

HejTalks About Atlanta, Her Progress and Development-His Trip Through the South.

"I was in Atlanta twenty-three years ago, and saw a thriving little city struggling to gain a foothold. How changed is the Atlanta of today!"

The speaker was the prince of insurance men, Henry B. Hyde, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United

The corporation of which he is president has the largest number of policies and the largest amounts of insurance of the companies in the United States.

And much of its success is due to the affable gentleman who spent yesterday the guest of the Gate City of the south.

rie organized the Equitable Life Assurance Company in 1859-thirty-three years ago. He was elected vice president of the company when it was first organized, and has always been the leading spirit of it. The company was strong from the first day of its organization, and has grown in popularity and in the confidence of the people since that

Mr. Hyde served the company in the capacity of vice president for fourteen years, when he was elected president. His election to the presidency was but a recognition of the invaluable services which he had rendered the company. He took hold of the reins of the Equitable with a determination to push it to still further success and win a reputation; and, during his long administration of its affairs, the Equitable has grown into the first place in financial strength, and extent and volume of business, of insurance companies.

President Hyde is on a tour of the southern states, visiting the various agencies. He rides in a private car, and is accompanied by Mr. A. W. Main, accountant of the society, and Mr. Henry Knowles, who is one of the best known insurance men in the south

The party came to Atlanta from Birmingham, where they visited the agency of the Equitable. He was very unwell during the day, and spent most of the time in his car. In the afternoon he held a conference with the agents of the Equitable from the principle Georgia cities. Mr. Hyde is a very pleasant gentleman and

"I left New York," said he, to a reporter of THE CONSTITUTION, "on December 19th to visit the southern agencies of the Equitable. I have already visited Louisville, St. Louis, Little Rock, and all the principle cities of Texas and the gulf states. I leave Atlanta tomorrow night for Jacksouville, Fla., and after a day there, I return to New York, visiting the cities along the Atlantic coast as I go. I will get back to New York about February

In speaking of the Equitable's business

President Hyde said:
"We transact," said he, "an annual business of $230,000,000 and have a surplus of over $250,000,000. Our assets amount to $135,000,-000, and have a cash income of $38,000,000."

The tall eight-story building now being erected at the corner of Pryor street and Edgewood avenue is being built of money partly contributed by the Equitable society. "We did not furnish all of it," said Presi dent Hyde, "but such is our confidence in Atlanta's future we feel sure the investment is a good one."

Continuing about Atlanta's past and future, President Hyde said:

"I was in Atlanta twenty-three years ago, but this was quite a village then. It is needless to say that the growth of the city since that time has been surprising. The change is wonderful, and I see every evidence of a bustling and fapidly developing city. Atlanta is very properly termed the Gate City of the south. I have been to Atlanta several times since my first visit, and every time I see evidence of increasing progress and prosperity."

President Hyde went through Texas and is very favorably impressed with the Lone Star "That state," said he, "has a great future that cannot be comprehended." President Hyde leaves tonight for Jack-

A Red Ear Calendar.

Calendars are more certain to fly at this season than snow itself. The crop is always large, but the individuals generally lack utility. One of the very best we ever see comes from N. W. Ayer & Son, Newspaper Advertising Agents, Philadelphia. It is the red ear of the crop. It looks and talks business. Its size is generous, its figures very plain, while it is printed so handsomely as to make one willing to keen company with it the enmake one willing to keep company with it the en-tire year. Like the other productions of the firm, this bears their famous phrase, "Keeping ever-lastingly at it brings success"—a text which they both preach and exemplify. The calendar is sent by them, postpaid, for 25 cents, and what is again unusual in such cases, it is so packed as to pass through the mails uninjured.

CONSIDERABLY OFF

But we don't allow any Clothing to grow aged here. It is sold while new. The stir keeps stirring, no let-up in the interest, and the rich stock at one third late values will keep business at high pressure.

For today, tomorrow and Friday, one third off sale. Heavy Suits and Overcoats, extra Pants and Underwear, subject to one third off.

Whenever there is a difference about our goods and the statements made about them it is in your favor. The following is conservative:

We do not know when you ever before could get nearly so good a Coat or Suit and save so much. Re-member, ours are all the most fashionable and useful sorts, and they're going quickly.

NOTE.—We are prompted to allow one-third off of heavy Suits and Overcoats, extra Pants and Underwear today, Thursday and Friday, in order to facilitate stock-taking by cleaning out all lingering lines. Nothing strange about that!
